WELCOME TO NEW METHODIST LEADER

There was a reception at the Methodist parsonage last evening to Rev. J. W. Wadman, the new Methodist superintendent here, which was attended by about 250 people. The features of the affair were addresses and music. Mr. W. A. Bowen made a speech of welcome for the people of Honolulu; Mr. H. C. Brown, of the Y. M. C. A., spoke in greeting for church workers. Rev. E. W. Thwing welcomed Mr. Wadman on behalf of the ministers and Mr. A. J. Lyle spoke of the organization of the local Methodist church, yesterday being the tenth anniversary of its founding. There was music by girls from the Kaula Home and by Kaala's Quintette Club. Nearly all the evangelical clergy were present.

CAPTAIN BERGER GAVE THE SAN FRANCISCANS "PEDRO"

Great Audience at Golden Gate Park Heard the Hawaiian Bandmaster's Great Masterpiece as a Climax to Series of Encores.

"The Sunday that I led the Golden Gate park band in San Francisco was one which I shall remember for a long time," said Captain Berger, leader of the Hawaiian Government Band, yesterday. The captain had just returned from his annual three weeks' vacation on the Coast.

"The leader of the Park band wanted me to lead the band on that day, and I chose a program of Japanese selections. They laughed at me for they don't know much about Japanese music up there while our band does."

"It now turns out that my instruction in Japanese music will do some good for it will come in handy when Prince Fushimi arrives at San Francisco. They did not know the Japanese National Anthem even, and they now play it so well that the Japanese Consul there said it was all right."

"There were thousands of people in the audience that day, and how they applauded and asked for encores. I responded by giving a Hawaiian march or two and at the end gave them 'Pedro.' That was the piece that took them by storm. They liked it and there were howls of applause when we finished. Oh, it was a great day, yes, no?"

"I was in San Francisco while Souza was giving a series of concerts. He gave twelve and I heard ten. I couldn't possibly get there for the other two Souza and I are old friends and I tell you he's a great bandmaster."

"Yes, I brought home lots of new music and will give Honolulu some of it on Sunday."

SENSATION AND SEQUEL OF BROOKLYN FIRE

The first dispatches regarding the fire at the American-Hawaiian steamship wharves were as follows:

NEW YORK, Oct. 28.—Two piers, four large steamships and two lighters were destroyed by fire early this morning at the foot of Forty-second street, Brooklyn. The fire was still burning at 3 o'clock, and the damage is roughly estimated at $3,000,000.

One of the destroyed piers, No. 6, which cost $500,000, burned to the water's edge, and was the largest pier in New York harbor. The ships were laden and the piers were filled with valuable merchandise. Part of the loss was 30,000 bales of cotton, valued at $50 a bale. There were many narrow escapes from the three steamers and lighters and at this hour it is reported several lives were lost.

At 1:30 a. m. the big freight steamers, American, Nebraskan and Arizonan, which ply between this port and the Hawaiian islands, and the freighter City of Palermo were on fire. The tremendous flames that rolled up from them illuminated the whole southern sky and attracted attention all over Manhattan. The barges Victor and Adelaide, laden with cotton were destroyed. They were lying at Pier No. 7, one of the two destroyed.

The fire started on board the barge Victor and spread rapidly until the entire barge was ablaze and the flames had communicated to the pier, stored to its capacity with cotton and general merchandise.

The steamers Nebraskan, American, and Arizonan were tied up at the pier. The fire spread so rapidly that the steamers were in flames before the crews could be aroused, and escape by the pier was cut off. All on board the steamers had to jump overboard to save their lives. The barge Victor had been cut adrift from the pier to try and save the structure. The flaming barge drifted over to the other side, alongside the Adelaide, and in a few moments the Adelaide was afire and the flames had communicated to Pier 6, also freighted with cotton and general merchandise.

Tied up to this pier was the large transatlantic liner City of Palermo, running between New York and Mediterranean ports and loaded with a general cargo, including a quantity of cotton. The flames from the pier communicated to the helpless vessel and her crew had to abandon her and take to the water to save their lives.

At 3 o'clock this morning all that remained of the piers was charred ends of piles sticking above the water. The steamers Nebraskan, American and Arizonan were burned to the water's edge and the City of Palermo looked like a total loss. The firemen were practically helpless against the flames, as both piers were ablaze from shore to the extreme water end.

It was the third fire on the piers in two weeks. The firemen could not say whether they were incendiary. Where such a large quantity of cotton is stored there is always danger of spontaneous combustion. The last fire on the piers occurred two days ago and resulted in a damage of $50,000.

LOSSES MODIFIED.

The Call the same morning modified the losses as follows:

Telegrams received in this city yesterday by the Merchants' Exchange and by Williams, Dimond & Co. announce that the steamships American and Arizonan, reported to have been destroyed in the great Brooklyn fire yesterday morning, escaped the flames. The Arizonan was slightly charred, but the American was not even scorched.

Four steamers were reported burned to the water's edge, one of which is the Nebraskan, and in her case the report is doubtless true. The Nebraskan, Alaskan, Oregonian, Hawaiian, American and Arizonan, ships of the American-Hawaiian line, are bound for San Francisco, consigned to Williams, Dimond & Co. The Arizonan and American have just received new commanding officers, and about the first good work these captains did was to save their ships. The Nebraskan is commanded by Captain Weeden.

INFLUENZA is always more or less prevalent at this season of the year. This disease is very similar to a severe cold and if allowed to take its course is liable to cause serious results. The best treatment for influenza is to avoid exposure, and take Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. This medicine gives immediate relief and if used as directed, will ward off all dangerous consequences. For sale by all dealers. Benson, Smith & Co., Ltd., agents for Hawaii.

NEW CHAIRMAN FOR REGISTRATION BOARD

Governor Carter was consulted by Secretary Atkinson yesterday regarding the selection of a chairman of the Board of Registration, made necessary by the appointment of William T. Rawlins as Deputy High Sheriff. It was considered important that the chairman should have a knowledge of both English and Hawaiian. Another desirable qualification is an acquaintance with law.

Albert F. Judd and Arthur M. Brown both answered to the qualifications just stated and one of them will most probably be appointed today.

The Board of Registration will be in session on Monday and Tuesday to settle any difficulties in the lists of voters, attend to transfers, etc.

WIND UP THE CAMPAIGN MONDAY

The Republicans will wind up their campaign on Monday evening next at the Orpheum. The rally will be along the same lines as that held last Saturday night. Seats will again be reserved for ladies. Among the speakers already announced are Stephen L. Desha, A. Lewis, Jr., John W. Cathcart. An orchestra will be present.

REPUBLICANS MEET.

the Home Rule ranks. They failed in this and the Home Rulers stand pat except for the converts we have made. Searching around for an issue they now attack Carter and his administration. From my absolute knowledge, not snap judgment, I know that the Democrats are altogether out of the race and the real fight lies between the Republicans and the Home Rulers. Such being the case I urged all Republicans and all sensible Democrats to vote the straight Republican ticket. To vote the Democratic ticket is simply throwing away your vote and incidentally helping Nottley. We all know how utterly foolish it would be to send Nottley, the Home Ruler, to Washington with a Republican administration in power there. Any attack on Carter is absurd. He is appointed by the President and cannot be ousted by any disgruntled members of the Legislature.

Andrade spoke next in both English and Hawaiian. He said that results are what is desired by the people of are what is desired by the people of this Territory. Four years ago we saw the Home Rulers could, or would, accomplish nothing. The candidates of the Republican party are the best qualified of those of any of the parties to accomplish things beneficial to the people and the Territory.

Faxon Bishop's central idea was the necessity to vote straight. A single man could not do anything. He had to have all his fellow-candidates elected to put through any positive legislation. We have lost our revenue from the customs duties and the only way to get some of it back for the Territory is by appropriations of the National Government. While a Republican administration is in power in Washington, this can only be done by sending a Republican representative.

"Paanini" Jack Lucas then took the stand and immediately had the crowd in a good humor. He said he had been in office for ten days and that had been ten days too much. He went over the different candidates, making humorous allusions to each one and ended by urging all to vote the straight ticket.

Aylett made an attack on the so-called Good Government Club and claimed that they were nobodies and represented nobody. He ended with the customary straight ticket plea.

Harris had a rather hard time getting through his speech. A kanaka in the audience, evidently of a different political faith, kept interrupting and finally marched off. Mr. Harris spoke of the inability of Nottley to accomplish anything for the good of the Territory should he be elected. If we sent on a Republican majority in the Legislature here, we would be looked upon with greater favor by the Republican administration at Washington than if we sent Nottley who would have no party affiliations there to help him get what is needed here. Harris also spoke of Home Rule tactics in the House four years ago. The House had threatened the Governor that they would not pass the appropriation bill until after he granted an extension of the Legislature.

NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

The Original Remedy that "Kills the Dandruff Germ."

QUITE HOMELY—QUITE ATTRACTIVE

The woman with homely features will not lack attractiveness if her head is crowned with an abundance of beautiful hair. But, on the other hand, the finest contour of female face loses much of its attractiveness if the hair is scanty or looks diseased. The dandruff microbe causes dull, brittle or lustreless hair with later dandruff, itching scalp and falling hair. Newbro's Herpicide destroys this enemy of beauty and permits the hair to grow as nature intended. A delightful hair dressing. Gives wonderful results. No oil or dye.
